How to driving the car

B : Yes. I always like the beach.
A : Were you friends there today?
B : Some of them.
A : Sue, Did you have a good time?
C : It was ok. I wish mother had come.
A : I do too. Maybe we can bring her next weekend.
C : Let's do. May I bring Sally?
A : We'll see.
B : May I turn on the radio?
A : I'd rather have quiet.
C : I would too.
B : You just don't like my music. That's right. Maybe later.

Time Passes

A : You can't. You don't how.
B : Well, let's think about it.
C : Daddy! He can't. He doesn't know how.
A : He's unable to drive right now. Aren't you almost old enough to drive, Alan?
B : Almost. I'll be old enough in a few months. But I don't know how can't you teach me?
C : Can't you teach me too?
A : Be serious. I am able to teach both of you, but I won't. Sue, you're definitely too young.
C : I can learn without actually driving.
B : What fun is that?
A : That's what we will have to do for a few months you can't drive without a permit and license.
B : I'm not able to get a permit until I'm sixteen years old.
A : Maybe it would be a good idea for me to teach you.
B : What can you teach if I can't drive?
A : We could make a list we can list what you can do already, and what you can't do. Some of those things you can learn now, some will have to wait until you are sixteen.
C : I will have to wait a long time.
B : I can't park.

Speaking up

- Rocky : The article I've chosen is about the possibility of young people going deaf from misuse of MP3 players. There's a copy for each of you.
- Angel : Thanks.
- Rocky : Hearing experts say that if young people listen to loud music on MP3 players for extended periods of time, they may suffer hearing loss and tinnitus by the time they're thirty.
- Ralph : What's tinnitus?
- Rocky : It's permanent ringing in the ears. So now people are calling for a lower limit on the volume of MP3 players.
- Ralph : What!
- Rocky : In my opinion, there's no real evidence that MP3 players can do you harm. The final results of the research aren't known yet.
- Angel : I see your point, but I think this article is a warning to young people. I mean, by the time the results come out, it might be too late.
- Katie : Aah... I think...
- Ralph : I think this article is a load of rubbish! Music is meant to be heard loud. That's the great thing about MP3 players!
- Katie : But...
- Ralph : I mean, you can listen without bothering anyone else.
- Angel : You've got a point there, Ralph. Katie?
- Katie : Oh, it doesn't matter.
- Marion: OK everyone. You can wind down the discussion now. I hope you've all made notes. I'll be calling on you to report back on your group's opinions. Two minutes. OK?
- Rocky : Uh oh. We forgot to take notes.
- Angel : I'll do it.
- Marion: Which article did your group discuss, Rocky?
- John : We discussed one on MP3 players. Experts say they could cause deafness and people want the volume level to be lowered.
- Marion: And what was the feeling in your group about that?
- Angel : Well, Rocky said he thought the results weren't known so they should leave MP3 players as they are.
- Marion: Yes?
- Angel : And Ralph agrees with him because the best thing about MP3 players is that you can listen to loud music without bothering anyone else.
- Marion: Uhuh.
- Angel : And I think that we should take the article as a warning and turn down the volume.
